GLUTEN FREE ORGANIC RAW MATERIALS

The demand of ingredients and raw materials granted gluten free is highly increasing in all the phases of production processes.

Biostock has ever been working with gluten free organic raw materials, in cooperation also with the Italian Celiac Association. Now, Biostock is pleased to dedicate a special section to gluten free products for professional use dedicated to all the operators of the food service field. The references with the voluntary indication "gluten free" on the pack, to grant the limit of gluten content under 20 ppm as provided for by law, are increased in number.

Only if meticulous checking of the documents (allergens sheets – management of gluten as allergen in the self-control program – registration of production process), of the goods delivered in our warehouse, of the results of random security analytical checks, are considered sufficient guarantees, Biostock declares a product as gluten free, organizing stock and handling to avoid any contamination.

ATTENTION: It's IMPORTANT to specify in the order the selection of the gluten free product!

Check the product at its arrival and its label!

The gluten free feature is granted for Biostock product, in its original and intact pack.

The operators will then have the responsibility to manage the product properly to protract this important feature.

ORGANIC GLUTEN FREE RAW MATERIALS IN BULK

BIOSTOCK AMARANTH: CULTIVATED IN TUSCANY

The ancient Andean grain, amaranth, more properly called "pseudocereal", nowadays can also be grown in Tuscany thanks to a project of the University of Florence, Department of Production of food and agriculture and Environmental Sciences (DIS-PAA) developed in collaboration with Probios, Ente Cassa di Risparmio of Florence and the Terre Regionali Toscane at the Centre for testing and transfer of the Innovation of Cesa (Arezzo).

The cultivation of amaranth in Tuscany or at least in Italy, brings a great benefit from an agronomic, ethical and environmental impact point of view, given the growing demand for this precious plant that yet has to cross half of the world to arrive on European tables. This "pseudocereal", native of Central America, has been for millennia the main nourishment of the Andean people, Incas and Aztecs, who considered it sacred to the gods. Thanks to its nutritional features, amaranth is inserted in the category of so-called "superfood" and can be used not only for food, but also in cosmetic and pharmacological uses. In some periods of the year, Amaranth grown in Tuscany is available at Biostock. Ask for it!

IMPORTANT INFORMATION FOR RAW MATERIALS IN BULK:

If not stocked in a fresh and dried place, Biostock products can undergo a deterioration process, above all in the hot season. We suggest not to make a stock in that moment, except if you have the suitable warehouse and instrument for a correct preservation.

In case of not conformity, we have to be informed within 8 days from the date of receiving of the goods; after this time, any not conformity can't be attributed to us.

We can grant the features of the products listed on label, only if they are kept in the original sealed packaging; if not, we can't be responsible for them (absence of allergens, organic farming, expiry date, ...)

Some bulk products have the wording on label "for professional use" or similar. In this case, the product is for transformation only. If the product is directly showed and sold to the end consumers, please check that on label there are all the information required by your current regulations.

In case of bulk sale of the products to the consumers, please check if there is the need of additional certifications for the shop, in conformity with the current regulations for organic products.
